Wade,

I can go. It's not impossible at all.

Or, John could have a trusted friend like Gord be there.

John also has sisters and a brother-in-law.

Omigosh, there are so many ways that an appraisal could be done.

Is there some reason why you keep doing the opposite of what you tell a Judge can easily take place?

Don't you know how important it is for me to have access to my half of the equity in the matrimonial home? You arranged for me to receive $0 in spousal support. I need to pay for so many things for my kids. Especially since John, like last summer, asks me to take care of the kids on his days while he is at work; yet, he never contributes to the costs of any of their activities or lunches or snacks. Then there is Cate's tutoring ... and sunscreen.

This lack of care for the children certainly flies in the face of someone who is seeking sole custody.

Don't you think?

Hi Joel.

Would you please provide a couple of date/time options when you could re-evaluate this property next week for divorce purposes.

Ex-husband thinks the value has dropped from $900,000 to $700,000 in past two years. If that is truly the case, then I will likely keep it. (MPAC has it at over a million.)

Looking forward to your reply.

Thanks so very much.
