normal life than they have ever had in years and they are not showing any sign of anxiety and annoyance. The children continue to have extended family support including the maternal grandparents as well as aunts.

200. Mr. Kiska has been closely following and grossly disturbed by Ms. Moore's posting of the children's names, photos and videos on the internet. On November 21, 2019, he stated to me that he has been shielding the children against emotional and psychological risk and continues to have sleepless nights. He added that he has a safety plan since 2013 to protect the children and that the current safety plan has been enhanced on an ongoing basis. Mr. Kiska further added that mom has made a lot of damage that is difficult to repair.
201. Mr. Kiska disagreed and became angry with the Society's legal approach in handling the case in Court and accused the Society of not being concerned about the children and doing nothing to protect them. Mr. Kiska's anger towards the Society escalated over time as Ms. Moore continued to post the children's information, videos and photo on her website. Mr. Kiska has expressed his concerns in writing to the Executive Director of the Society.
202. Mr. Kiska has recently demonstrated disinterest in the monthly home visits by not responding to my requests to schedule for visits. On July 10, 2020, I made a home visit and reminded Mr. Kiska of violating a court ordered condition by not allowing home visits. Mr. Kiska was visibly angry and stated to me that my monthly presence in the home does not mean anything to him and that the children do not want to see me. He stated that he has been fighting the Society for a long time and that CAS only did things as a result of his fights and that his anger was the reason why CAS changed its position not to withdraw the application. I advised Mr. Kiska that, as the Society has no protection concerns with him, we are ready to terminate the Supervision Order and he stated he wants to continue to the end.

Ref: Dr. Chow (physician)

Deirdre was admitted Civic Psychiatry on March 3rd, 2013. Dr. Chow took Deirdre to emergency.

Dr. Chow unsure of what is going on, thus not typical behaviours for Deirdre, very surprising. Deirdre is an awesome mother. There was no indication - Deirdre seen by Dr. Chow last week during children's appointments.

Dr. Chow unsure how long being admitted. Wants writer to fax consent before providing more info.

- Dr. Chow stated a thorough government needed to determine the why's to this breakdown in someone so young.

There was no assessment done. Dr. Daniel Saul simply relied on "collateral information" and Kiskz lied.

- You are correct that I have not been happy for a long time:
- I have absolutely not been happy not having a Will to protect our children.
  - I have absolutely not been happy not having adequate life insurance to protect you, I or our children.

I went through the process of applying for life insurance with Elyse and you refused to sign the paperwork. I asked you on many occasions to recommend a lawyer to draft a Will and you refused ... suggesting that I "go on line" and make one.

Your stress over money is something that I have learned to manage. It hasn't made me unhappy. Our whole 13 years of marriage has generally been very happy, at least in my mind. However, I can not with a clear conscience allow the irresponsible financial and estate planning with respect to Sean and Cate continue. If you can, that is your choice; however, it is not one that I respect.

I interpret your tone and demands to scrutinize our financials ten minutes after I walk in the door as suggestions, once again, that you are considering a divorce. Your threats don't scare me. Why in the world would I want to spend the rest of my life with someone who has no respect for me or our children?

Abuse in Marriage & Divorce

Warning. As Goes the Marriage, so Goes the Divorce.

(insert source)

(Re-print of article by Sharon Zarozny, Brilliant Exits 01/26/2015 01:29pm EST | Updated March 26, 2015)

We marry dreaming of "happily-ever-after." But sadly, 25% of all women in the US (and a significant % of men) find themselves in an abusive marriage or partnership. And when that occurs, most are in denial.

Simply put, abuse is about power and control, and generally the perpetrator is very cunning. Abuse happens in many obvious ways, such as yelling, threats, verbal put-downs, and bodily harm. It also happens in subtle ways such as stonewalling and withholding money. It may only happen behind closed doors, which creates an additional challenge — especially if the abuser is a successful, charismatic figure (think Bill Cosby).

Homelife: Shattered Dreams.

It's hard to admit, and take action, when abuse happens. Why? It's difficult to believe we lovingly chose someone who could hurt us in so many unforeseen ways. We think abuse is something that happens to others. And, since it usually happens so gradually, we question its reality. There is no billboard announcing: "You now are in a domestic violence situation".

The whole family suffers. Communication at home totally breaks down because the abuser's anger and control issues rule the family. While the behavior may only be directed at one person, the entire family walks on eggshells, suffering stress, pain and isolation. Chaos reigns, especially when its victims experience the "wheel of abuse," which is a repeated cycle of bad times followed by a honeymoon period. Its crazy-making as it keeps everyone off-balance and off-guard.

Getting Out.

Needless to say, recognizing and getting out of the nightmare takes amazing courage. Filing for separation and/or divorce is a heroic feat ♥ the abused spouse, as the risk of retaliation is great. Intimidation, and often violence, escalates. Sometimes a restraining order is needed. I. there are kids, it can become really ugly, especially when the abuser sees the kids as an entitlement.

U 1/2

tactics. It can be a rude awakening and impossible to stop.

Expecting "justice", most first-timers are shocked to discover the cruel reality of our legal system: It's not about justice — it's about how you play the game. And, in order to stay in the game, particularly against an abuser, you need lots of money because running up your legal costs is the opposing side's strategy to shut you out of the game.

Pursuing your legal rights is expensive and often there is great disparity in what spouses can afford. Commonly, it's the abuser who has the money, and unrelenting drive, to escalate and prolong the legal battle. Remember, winning at all costs is the abuser's goal.

Without the means to level the playing field, an abused spouse is faced with harsh realities, such as:

- How do you negotiate with someone (the abuser) bent on winning at all costs and wanting revenge?
- Where is "justice" when your spouse can turn the courts and the legal system into a new weapon against you, especially by hiring an expensive attorney who's known to use bullying and nasty legal tactics to intimidate and drain family resources?
- How is it in "the best interest of the child" when the abuser has money to hire experts and take you to court, over and over again — while you can barely afford the soccer shoes your kids need?

Time for a Game Change.

Experts commonly say, "as goes the marriage, so goes the divorce." It's no surprise that difficult people fuel difficult divorces. After all, does anyone really think an abuser changes his/her ways just because divorce is happening? Fact is, even nice people can morph into ugly people during separation and divorce.

The big question is: Why don't we protect abused spouses, and families, from being financially and emotionally pummeled through the courts? If someone gathers the courage to leave an abusive marriage, shouldn't there be oversight and procedures to protect him/her from being revictimized, and punished, by a retaliatory spouse?

We've come a long way helping DV victims become survivors and educating the public about domestic violence and its toll on the family. Making it a priority has saved lives and families. Taking it out of the closet has encouraged abused spouses to get out.

Isn't it time we took it a step further by stopping the abusers from using the courts as a weapon in divorce? Makes sense to me.

The parties attended counsel-assisted mediation with Carol Bartels on December 13, 2016 and have agreed to the following terms:

CUSTODY:

1. The parties shall have interim joint custody of the children, namely, Sean Kiska, born May 8, 2006, and Cate Kiska, born November 30, 2007, and shall make important decisions involving the children in joint consultation with each other.
2. The parties agree that important decisions include decisions about the children's:
  - a. Non-emergency health care;
  - b. Education;
  - c. Religion;
  - d. Extra-curricular activities in which the parties agree to enrol the children in; and
  - e. Appearance changes such as body piercing, cosmetic surgery and tattoos.
3. The parent residing with the children at the relevant time will make day-to-day decisions affecting the children's welfare. In the event of illness the parent residing with the children at the relevant time shall keep the other party fully informed, by e-mail or telephone, of any treatments, and/or medications administered or prescribed while the children are in his/her care.

PARENTING SCHEDULE:

V1/3

4. Commencing Monday, January 2, 2017, the children shall reside in the care of each parent on an equal basis on a two (2) week rotating basis on 2/2/3 parenting schedule as follows:

Week One

- a. The children to be in the Mother's care from the beginning of school (or 9 am if there is no school) on Monday until their return to school on Wednesday morning (at 9 am if there is no school) as well as alternate weekends from Friday after school (or 4 pm if there is no school) until their return to school on the Monday morning or 9 am if there is no school (to be extended to Tuesday morning in the event of a long weekend);
- b. The children to be in the Father's care from the beginning of school on Wednesday (or 9 am if there is no school) until the end of school on Friday (or 4 pm if there is no school).

Week Two

- a. The children to be in the Father's care from the beginning of school on Monday (or 9 am if there is no school) until their return to school on Wednesday morning (or 9 am if there is no school) as well as well as alternate weekends from Friday after school (or 4 pm if there is no school) until their return to school on the Monday morning or 9 am if there is no school (to be extended to Tuesday morning in the event of a long weekend);
- b. The children to be in the Mother's care from the beginning of school on Wednesday (or 9 am if there is no school) until the end of school on Friday (of 4 pm if there is no school).

Communication

5. The children may telephone either parent whenever she/he wishes. In addition, the residential parent will have the children initiate contact with the non-residential parent between 6:00 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. daily. The method of contact with the non-residential parent will alternate daily by using facetime one day and the regular phone the next day, and so on. The call or phone call will be for a maximum of 15 minutes.

Christmas/New Years

6. In 2016, the parties will spend Christmas with the children in the matrimonial home on December 24 and 25, and the morning of December 26, 2016. On the afternoon of December 26, 2016 commencing at 2 pm, the Father may have the children in his care to bring to his sister's for the evening and returning to the matrimonial home no later than noon on December 27, 2016.
7. The Mother and the children will spend December 27 (no later than noon) and Dec. 28 with her family in Morrisburg. Upon her return on the morning of the 29th, the Father shall have the care of the children on December 29 and 30th until the morning of December 31, 2016.
8. The parties will spend December 31st 2016 and January 1st together with the children in the matrimonial home with the regular 2-2-3 schedule commencing on January 2, 2017.
9. Except as otherwise mutually agreed to by the parties, in writing (email constitutes in writing), the above parenting schedule is the "fallback" schedule to be followed by the parties.

LIVING ARRANGEMENTS OF THE PARTIES:

10. The Mother shall be moved out of the matrimonial home effective January 2, 2017. She will keep all of the chattels/furnishings in the kitchen save and except for the large appliances.
11. The Father will have exclusive possession of the matrimonial home effective January 2, 2017 and he will be solely responsible for all household related expenses including but not limited to the mortgage, the property taxes, the property insurance, utilities, internet, etc.
12. Notwithstanding paragraph 11 above, the Mother will be able to have access to the matrimonial home after January 2, 2017 in order to remove the rest of her personal belongings, chattels, etc. The Mother shall attend at the matrimonial home on a date and time to be mutually agreed upon by both parties, within a reasonable period. The Mother shall provide a list of the items prior to her attendance. If the parties cannot agree, the matter shall be returned to be resolved by ADR or the courts.
13. The parties agree that they will each co-sign a dividend cheque for each other in the amount of $30,000.00 (for a total of $60,000 combined) no later than January 2/17.

UPDATES REGARDING MOTHER'S MEDICAL CONDITION:

14. If the Father has concerns regarding the Mother's mental health, at his request, the Mother will submit to reporting to her family physician, Dr. Chow, for an evaluation and Dr. Chow will issue a report or make a recommendation as to what steps, if any, are required.
15. On a monthly basis at minimum or upon the request of either party, the children will be seen by therapist, Nadine Crowley (or if Ms. Crowley is not available, Janet Claridge) who may also recommend whether further measures need to be taken in the children's best interests. The cost of the children's visits with the therapist will be shared equally by the parties.
16. The Father and Mother:
  - i. Understand their respective rights and obligations under this agreement;
  - ii. Acknowledge that this agreement is fair and reasonable;
  - iii. Acknowledge that they are not under any undue influence or duress; and,
  - iv. Acknowledge that they are both signing this Agreement voluntarily.

Updated Form 13.1

Financial Statement of the Mother: $0

(Congratulations Kiska and Accomplices: Mission Accomplished)

Now, someone please explain to the mother what happens to her children if Kiska has a massive heart attack as his father did at the age of 47 and his sister did before the age of 60?

Kiska is a heart attack waiting to happen and, to the mother's knowledge, he has zero life insurance, zero disability insurance and little to no CPP as he has been self-employed for 20 years. Their $1M+ matrimonial home (which has a $330K+ mortgage because of all of Kiska's nonsense) is under-insured by at least $300,000 and he has no Will.

As evidenced at Schedule T, page 1: this is the reason she was going to leave EIGHT years ago.

Seriously, Kiska and any lawyer or judge involved in this divorce over the past three years should be, at a minimum, prevented from having anything to do with the rest of these divorce proceedings.

SAMPLE ANALYSIS

Long-term, Covert Fraud Orchestrated by Father

Sample analysis of a long-term, covert fraud strategy used by a spouse

October 1, 2015: Wife informs husband that she wants a divorce for cruelty as he has driven her to nervous breakdowns multiple times and then lied to psychiatrists in order to develop a "history of mental illness".

At that time:

Matrimonial home:	$ 840,000
Husband's income:	$ 200,000 +
Wife's income:	$ 40,000 (down from $100,000 in 1999, etc.)
Our children (aged 9 & 7):	two

In 2015, husband had two options: a "semi-amicable" divorce or the "elimination" of the wife.

Guess which option the husband chose?

	OPTION #1		TODAY	OPTION #2
	Husband	Wife		Husband	Wife
Value of home:	$ 500,000	$ 500,000		$1,000,000	$ -
Gross Income:	$ 200,000	$ 40,000		$ 200,000	$ -
Alimony/support:	$ (80,000)	$ 80,000		$ (12,000)	$ 12,000
Final Income:	$ 120,000	$ 120,000		$ 188,000	$ 12,000
Children:	shared custody & access			two	none

Obviously, husband chose option #2: it was much more profitable for him to do so. It is also likely that he has begun to teach others how to similarly "dispose" of their spouses regardless of the emotional impact on the children. I have been advised that it is this type of behaviour that differentiates the malignant narcissist (aka high-functioning sociopath) from the harmful-but-less-wicked, basic narcissist.

To fully understand how much a husband might pay to hire help to execute this strategy add the present net value of the home + the present net value of the future spousal & child support payments. (e.g. $2,000,000+ for a successful, 54-year old woman.)

(Re-print of Quora.com post by Frank Gallagher | edited, formatted and published November 11, 2020 for Remembrance Day and all of our soldiers, past and present.)

Narcissists will destroy their own families because they are dysfunctional and self-sabotaging. Destruction is the game that they enjoy playing with innocent people and they leave a path of destruction with every relationship and person that they have discarded or "ghosted". These creatures have no problem pushing the "ABORT" button on girlfriends, boyfriends, families, children, friends, marriages and/or planned weddings—when they are being "unmasked" or exposed.

It's ABORT, ABORT, ABORT!!

When you love a narcissist the right way, it only begs them to do wrong. Narcissists fight against the one thing that most people have long for: to be genuinely loved by someone with no strings attached.

Narcissists usually do not come from loving families; therefore, they create the illusion of how they want to build a family through mimicry. They may enjoy watching a lot of reality-based television shows, situational comedies and movies involving relationships to get ideas of how they would want life to play out for them. Narcissists do not understand that people do not simply implement what they see on television, etcetera. Non-narcissist people do not mimic love: they experience love.

Narcissists create their own "fantasy life" by creating illusions of deep, meaningful relationships. They are, however, nothing but the enemy as they cook for you, sleep with you, say "I Love You", have sex with you, enjoy dinner with you and raise children with you ... all with a warm smile.

(Link to Anne Kingston's article "We are the Dead": <https://www.macleans.ca/news/canada/we-are-the-dead/>)

The thing that most victims do not understand is that they were never really part of a loving family. When it comes to having a narcissistic husband, wife, mother, father, sister or brother, these wicked individuals maintain relationships with innocent people in order to fool them.

Regarding romance and/or intimacy, narcissists want their victim to believe that they have finally met "the one": someone with whom they can now build a beautiful life, grow old together and maintain a healthy, loving relationship.

To be honest, I believe that all narcissists find this sh*t to be funny—as they pretend to build something meaningful for their victims, only to one day decide to destroy what was built.

I seriously do believe that these clowns are laughing as they manipulate their victims during the relationship and they laugh watching them suffer as the relationship or "loving family" is sabotaged. Narcissists are excellent illusionists and can create the illusion of having a functional family when in reality the family was probably dysfunctional as hell.

Usually, when a victim looks back over the months or years, they will remember events that indicated the relationship or family was not quite right with this individual: many hints, many clues—all dismissed as little "personality quirks" because the "idealization" periods seemed to make up for the "devaluation" and "discard" periods.*

Narcissists will betray you in the end and trust me the betrayal will be indescribable.

They enter lives not to add ... but to take away; so, remove them from your life immediately.

I have always said, a narcissist is nothing more than an enemy which preys on people. Infiltration usually occurs from the inside and the enemy will be revealed as being someone very close to you. Narcissists contaminate all relationships and will spread their radiation poisoning among innocent people ... only to find this same poison has further destroyed themselves too. Narcissists do not consider anyone as family; just a source of energy supply for them to tap into when needed.

* See excellent description of the narcissistic cycle of abuse (idealization, devaluation, discard) here .
