Dr. Victor Uwaifo,

Your Mis-diagnosis = ^{Three}~~Two~~ Big Problems

I was disappointed this morning when — following three days of testimony and yesterday's letter which literally referenced my corporate website (that evidences the crimes of my husband and his accomplices) — you asked me for his number "to get his side of the story".

Your rationale? "How could all of the former psychiatrists be wrong."

My answer? Every single one relied upon the false collateral information, either directly or indirectly, of my husband!

This phenomenon was explained by my former psychologist, Dr. Iris Jackson, who is now retired. Her report is included in series 14 of the material that has been pre-published for an upcoming book series entitled "Unbridled Power & Insatiable Greed"; and, can be reviewed at www.twb.rocks/UPIG/psych.

Your perpetuation of the mis-diagnosis "Delusional Disorder":

- a) results in a proposed "treatment plan" for a condition from which I do not suffer,
- b) denies me of the CNS-depressant prn prescription which responsibly "treats" the condition from which I have suffered/experienced in the past and
- c) effectively gives everyone in the "victims services" community ^{EDIT: permission} to not take my testimony re: perpetual domestic violence + + + seriously.

Do better.

Verily,

Felecia Moore / Andree Sea Cae Jak
